COMMERCIAL SPENDING INTELLIGENCE: HOW IT WORKS

Smart Data runs on the unique MasterCard Global Data Repository, a purpose-built utility for capturing and packaging Commercial data, with long-standing feeds from financial institutions, processors, acquirers, and B2B merchants.

Data is sent to users via direct File Delivery feeds that integrate seamlessly with dozens of expense management and accounting systems or through MasterCard® smartdata.gen2™, our own Web-based reporting and analytics solution.

Whether a company is moving beyond checks and cash for the first time or seeking deeper knowledge into its operational expenses, MasterCard’s flexible, customizable system handles it all.

A POWERFUL SOLUTION FOR CORPORATIONS

Modular functionality delivers what purchasing cardholders and managers need:

- Data collection & file delivery
- Addendum data from purchasing card transactions
- Expense reporting
- Self-service account management
- Reporting & analytics
- Accounting & reconciliation
- Controls & alerts
- Flexible integration with ERP systems

Because MasterCard operates at the heart of commerce, the data that companies need to manage procurement expenses is built in to our Commercial payments solutions. And no other solution exceeds Smart Data’s power.
